Owner Found.

The Masonic charm which Robert Pratt found at the Cummings' mill a short time ago and an item made concerning same in last week's paper, proved to belong to James O. Crooker.

Mr. Crooker lost the charm last May and had given up the idea of finding it. At the time he was digging out a portion of his cellar, putting in a brick floor and installing a new furnace and he asumed he lost it when doing that work.

He also got water each day at the mill stream spring and in getting to the spring passed over the edge of the saw dust pile where he evidently lost it.

The charm was a gift to Mr. Crooker twenty years ago from his wife and had he not found the same he was to receive a new one from Mrs. Crooker at Christmas. However, he is glad to find the old one.

Are You Going After New Business Or Wait Until It Comes to You?

Newspaper Advertising is the most efficient salesman you can employ. You must let the public know what you have and where to buy if you want to sell, and similarly you cannot sell your goods without publicity. Newspapers reach the majority of prospective customers at a comparatively small cost, it goes into the homes and the public seeing your advertisement will become interested. If the goods are right they will buy. Sales mean Profits.

Reach out for more business this winter by advertising judiciously and persistently.

Write us, telephone 119-11, or call and we'll tell you how.

Sergt. Henry G. Fleming Returned.

Sergt. Henry G. Fleming of South Paris, who sailed from Quebec Sept. 29th, returned home Wednesday afternoon.

He arrived at Dunkirk, France, Oct. 14th, and was at the front in contact with the Germans Oct. 15th, 16th and 17th in the battle of Dixmude where he was wounded in the leg between the knee and ankle by a German sharpnel shot. He was wounded while in a charge driving back a German advance, and was sent to London to the Millbank Hospital. Less than two months after he left South Paris, he left the hospital medically unfit for further service and carrying an honorable discharge. In the three days he was at the front he saw some of the hottest fighting of the war. He took part in a number of hand to hand encounters, with bayonets and it was while making a bayonet charge that two shots from a sharpnel struck him in the leg and dropped him, where he lay between the British and German trenches, with artillery fire going on over his head for eight hours before he was discovered and rescued by an Irish priest attached to the troops.

Sergt. Fleming was in the London hospital from Oct. 22d to 26th, in Scotland from Oct. 28th to Nov. 5th, when he sailed for home. He landed in New York Monday and was on the Fall River line boat that struck the shoals at Hell's Gate, Monday night. He came from New York by rail and reached South Paris Wednesday night, still carrying a bandaged leg and suffering from disorders incident to the life on the battlefield, but the first veteran of the great war to settle down in Maine.

The Preece Murder.

The body of Thomas E. Preece, who was killed and robbed at Sumner on Nov. 7, will be buried in Taunton, Mass., by his sister, Mrs. John Brinicombe, by whom it will be received.

The Coroner's jury reported a formal verdict that Preece was killed with a rifle by an unknown person.

Sheriff William O. Frothingham went to Milo to which town he traced the route followed by Preece in his carriage drive from Presque Isle to Sumner. He found many persons who saw or talked with Preece, but was able to locate only one, a Canton man, who saw the Spanish veteran in company with Preece. This man is believed to have joined Preede at Milo, where the former had been employed two days under the name of Pete J. Harrington.

The description given by the man, who saw both men as they drove through Canton, is said to correspond with that of Harrington and of the man who left Preece's team and dog at the hotel here the night Preece was murdered.

Convincing Testimony

Given by Many Norway People.

Experiences told by Norway people—
Those who have had weak kidneys—
Who used Doan's Kidney Pills—
Who found the remedy effective—Such statements prove merit.
You might doubt an utter stranger.
You must believe Norway people.
Here's Norway proof. Verify it.
Read. Investigate. Be convinced.
You'll find why Norway folks believe in Doan's.

"It gives me pleasure to verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Persis A. Walker, of Cottage St., Norway. They have done me a lot of good. I got Doan's Kidney Pills when I was feeling miserable from kidney disorders. This remedy helped me in a short time and I continued its use until I was well."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Walker had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 46-47

WEST PARIS.

Took His Own Life.

The remains of Fred Berry, one of Paris' highly esteemed citizens, were found hanging in his barn early Thursday morning, Nov. 12, where he had evidently committed suicide. Mr. Berry did not appear at breakfast and his sister called in a neighbor, Morsely Foss to search for him and he was found hanging in the barn. He wore his underclothing having evidently arisen without dressing. Dr. F. H. Packard was called at once but life was extinct.

No cause is assigned except depression caused by a pain from which he had been suffering in his head. It is a strange coincidence that Mr. Berry's twin brother, Frank Berry, committed suicide by drowning about three years ago.

Mr. Berry was a much respected and well to do farmer, and the family is one of the best in the community. He leaves two brothers, William and Edwin of West Paris, and three sisters, Ella, who always lived with the twin brothers and kept the home. Clara, who teaches in Mattawamkeag, and Lizzie, wife of John Carsley of Farmington. A brother, Hiram Berry of Portland recently died from typhoid fever. Mr. Berry lived on a farm on the South Paris road about one and one-half miles from West Paris village. He was the son of the late George W. and Mary (Marshall) Berry and was born in Paris. He was about 58 years of age.

Rheumatism
Just put a few drops of Sloan's on the painful spot and the pain stops. It is really wonderful how quickly Sloan's acts. No need to rub it in—laid on lightly it penetrates to the bone and brings relief at once. Kills rheumatic pain instantly.

Mr. James E. Alexander, of North Harpswell, Me., writes: "Many strains in my back and hips brought on rheumatism in the sciatic nerve. I had it so bad one night when sitting in my chair, that I had to jump on my feet to get relief. I at once applied your Liniment to the affected part and in less then ten minutes it was perfectly easy. I think it is the best of all Liniments I have ever used."

DENMARK.

Representative Elect.

Few men who will sit in the coming session of the Legislature and who have not previously been identified with State politics, have acquired a reputation that has spread throughout the country to such an extent as Charles E. Cobb of Denmark.

Denmark is one of the smallest towns in Maine. Even at that, it has a whole lot of fame and Mr. Cobb has contributed to it, He is the owner and proprietor of a large set of summer camps for boys and girls in the town and because of his connection with these, he has become well known through the country. These camps are among the largest and oldest in the business and have won a reputation that many another might envy.

Mr. Cobb is a Republican and has always taken an active part in the affairs of the party. Born in Limerick, 48 years ago, he attended the Moses Brown school in Providence, R. I., and the Harvard Summer school. He was for some time a member of the school board in Westbrook, was later superintendent of schools in Bridgton and has been selectman of Denmark for two years. He is the father of three boys and one girl, and this fact alone, should prove that he knows what boys and girls want when they come to his camps.

In addition to his extensive interests in the Denmark camps, Mr. Cobb conducts a large farm of 1200 acres in Denmark and has another farm in Westbrook, which is devoted to dairying. The products of this latter are marketed in Westbrook.

BRYON.

W. E. Taylor, who has been pressing hay in this vicinity, has gone to Andover.

Only a few deer have been killed as yet in town. They are not coming out of the woods as usual, or else they are growing less.

E. O. Easter has completed the iron bridge on Beaver brook and has done a first class job.

George Knapp of East Dixfield was in town last week calling on relatives and friends.

A small crew of men are cutting Xmas trees in this vicinity for the Boston and New York markets.

WEST BROWNFIELD

Mrs. J. L. Dennett has gone to Denmark to help care for George Gray, who is in very poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Pendexter of Denmark were seen in the neighborhood recently.

Winnie Jones has been here from the Center calling on her father and sisters.

School has begun again after being closed for a week.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the conditions of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patients urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1913, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00. 47-50

A NORWAY ADVERTISER SIXTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

"Norway Advertiser" of the vintage of March 1, 1850, lays before us. It's in its sixth volume and number 47. It's printed on nice white paper made of rags and not wood pulp and it has withstood 64 years of time. It says "An Independent Family Paper, Devoted to Literature, Morality, Agriculture and News."

Cyrus W. Brown was the printer, editor and publisher. He was a brother of Chas. F. Brown, known to the world as "Artemus Ward" and he came from Waterford, Me., where "the little village nestles under the mountains as all villages do."

The paper sold for $1.00 per year and was printed on a hand press—can see where the center-pins pricked the sheet to hold it in place for the drop of the frisket—a thing unknown to the present day printer. It's not done that way now even in a back woods' shop. This paper was inked by hand from "ink balls or ink pads" by the office devil who quite likely was the future world-wide famous "Artemus." He learnt the art pre servitive in this office with his brother, Cyrus.

Gave the Boy His Freedom.

This old copy is owned in the family of J. S. Witham and possibly because of containing the freedom notice of Samuel Witham it has been kept. His father Daniel signed the notice and it was witnessed by Edward Scribner and David Scribner of Otisfield, Feb. 11, 1850—"3W 45*"—this means the notice was to appear three times and the star indicates it was paid. It was then as now, cash in advance business.

Iron Horse Comes to South Paris.

The Atlantic and St. Lawrence Rail-Road had got as far as South Paris on its way to Montreal. There is a picture of an engine, baggage car and two coaches, which are held together logging-car fashion with pole and coupling pin. These were the days when trains run through the depots and the tracks were covered in. Hanging gates and doors were at each end and could be dropped at night or in stormy weather as the station agent saw fit. These gates were on the old South Paris depot up to the building of the brick depot in 1884, though we never saw them closed. This is within the memory of many now living. The writer remembers them, so does Dr. B. F. Bradbury and Frank H. Noyes, and they are not old men.

Stage and Railroad Time Table

S. T Corser, Superintendent, Portland, Nov. 27, 1849, announces business like this: "Passenger trains will leave this Depot at the foot of India Street, Daily, Sundays excepted, till further notice, as follows:—

"Leaves South Paris for Portland at 6.40 a. m. and 10.45 a. m.

"Leaves Portland for South Paris at 7.30 a. m. and 2.30 p. m.

"A Freight Train will leave Portland for South Paris at 7.30 a. m. and one from South Paris for Portland at 12 a. m.

"The Company will not be responsible for baggage to an ammount to exceed $50.00 in value unless notice is given and paid for at the rate of one passenger for every $500. additional value."

Wouldn't we of today thing this a hardship and make quick an appeal to the Interstate-Railroad-Utility-Commission of both state and nation.

The train that left Portland at 7.30 a. m. connected with stages at South Paris for Greenwood and Bethel, Rumford and Andover on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Stage daily to Paris and Norway and from Mechanic Falls for West Minot and Buckfield.

Two trains each way and one freight train and every other day stage connections had to suffice.

Some Local Advertisers.

J. B. Stuart is blacksmith and steel-yard manufacturer and is opposite the Elm House.

Brown & Co., sell steel and iron at Boston prices but they don't tell the price which they should have done. Give prices and advertising amounts to something more than a simple announcement. The above means nothing except that Brown & Co. had iron and steel for sale. It's on par with the late Peter B. Frost's ad. of Merchant Tailor. This told it but it don't say like Lee Smith at Foster's, Khaki trousers $1.00. That's advertising.

Wheelbarrows, 90c each, tells something. "Everything in running gear is almost a waste of time and space." A wheelbarrow for 90c or $3.75 tells you something. When you talk to our readers tell 'em what you have got and what it will cost them. This will bring returns if the price is right. Try it and see.

Wm. E. Goodnow sold emigrants' insurance to California at a low rate at a short notice. This was after the great rush to the Pacific coast in 1849. Lots of Norway people went there including Abner F. Jackson and Soloman I. Millett. He made two trips there. One time to get his wife's brother, Mr. Porter, home who was sick.

Soloman I. Millett panned out some money in California which he saved and put out at interest. It's hinted that he played cards while on the coast which added to his fortune but we take no stock in the report. The life and habits of the man for 30 years before his death makes this story to our mind downright scandal.

Notes on Surgeon Dentistry.

B. Coy, surgeon dentist, South Paris, and Dr. J. H. Heald, room 5 Rail Road House, Norway, pulled teeth and warrented their work. What that means we can't say and will leave the reader to guess. Laughing gas and painless extraction of teeth come later. Filling and making of false teeth come in the days of Dr. Geo. P. Jones. Painless extraction, crown and bridge work, with water-gushing-cuspidors, electric motors, fans and rubber dams are of the days of the younger Jones and Dr. F. E. Drake who have upstairs dental parlors and assistants and looking glasses and all that. Wory painless, sanitary, anti-septic and guaranteed to fit and give satisfaction. See their ad in the paper and take heed.

A Female Barber Artist.

"E. Grover, Hair Dresser," is a modest notice. She lived on Main street near the residence of Elliot Smith, now occupied by Clarence M. Smith. E. Grover was a woman and then like some women now, tried to pass herself off in advertising as a man, but she is the reputed mother of R. B. Grover, the big Brockton shoe maker who made a million of dollars and had the boilers of his shoe factory blown up with disasterous results a few years ago. He has since died. Bob Grover had a summer home at Bethel and gave largely to charity, the churches and other things. He was in town a few years since and pointed out to us the house where his mother lived when she helped support the family with razor and shears.

Carriages, Politics, History.

"Chas. P. Kimball, Carriage and Sleigh Manufacturer," this is one of the announcements in the old paper. It occupies three lines. Sixty-four years ago Charles Kimball and George Beal were 25 years old. The latter was a book-binder by trade and was in company with Bob Noyes before the war. He was a great friend of the Kimballs in everything except politics—here they differed. Maybe General Beal voted for Charles P. Kimball for Governor but we doubt it. Gen. Beal, after the war, was a big man as was his father, Ezra Beal before the war, but the son outshone the old man in politics and held many important offices in State and Nation. He died Dec. 11, 1896.

Ezra Beal was a carpenter, contractor and farmer. He built the old Grand Trunk depot in Portland and after the big fire in 1866, the Falmouth Hotel. At that time this house was a wonder. Early in the seventies—1871—I think, he remodeled his farm buildings in Norway at the corner of Main and Cottage street into what is now called by Bob Seavey, "Beals Tavern." Frank L. Starbird's boarding house and stable was for a generation known as the Beals House stable. The stable was separated from the house in 1882 when it was sold to the late John M Cummings, who in subsequent years did a worth while livery business in it and his other stables in this town and South Paris. John Cummings was a monopolist and controlled the stable business in the two towns for some years. O. M. Cummings, on the south side of Danforth street, then as now, was in the livery business, but we digress from the old paper.

Lorenzo Hathaway, father of the late Chas. L. Hathaway, advertises a house and shop to let opposite the Elm House. It was recently occupied by George Shattuck as a boot and shoe and millinery store.

E. F. Stone has just opened a new tailoring establishment at South Paris and Wm. M. Cushman has a jewelry shop in Norway.

Jeremiah Howe and David N. Cushman dissolve partnership and Anthony Bennett offers his hotel situated within a mile of the railroad depot of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad Co., for sale.

Mark H. Dunnell, A. B., and Thos. F. Barton, A. B., are the principals of the Norway Liberal Institute and G. H. Cole is the president of the board of trustees. Board in good families can be furnished for males $1.50 a week and females $1.25.

There is little in the paper that could be termed local news of the kind served up of today.

WATERFORD.

W. R. Jenkins has a new pair of horses.

L. H. Morse is attending the meeting of the Maine Pomological Society.

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Sias attended the meeting of the Sunday School Union in South Bridgton, Friday.

Dr. A. J. Stimpson was in Portland, Thursday and Friday of last week.

There will be a circle supper at the vestry Friday evening. After the supper some views of Western scenery will be shown.

On the parsonage lot a vein of water was opened last Friday at a depth of 67 feet which flowed at the rate of 5 gallons per minute. The water rises to within 18 feet of the surface. Maxwell of Bridgton did the drilling.

Thanksgiving During the Revolution.

During the American Revolution Thanksgiving celebrations were frequent. Eight Thanksgivings were ordered by the Continental Congress, and two were proclaimed by Washington for the army. The congressional proclamations were in the form of recommendations to the executive heads of the various state departments, stating the occasion which seemed to call for the observance of a special Thanksgiving. With a single exception, Congress even suspended its business on the days appointed for these celebrations.

The Thanksgiving days appointed by Congress were Thursday, July 20, 1775; Friday, May 17, 1776; a day to be decided on by several colonies, ordered by a resolution of Congress, December 11, 1776; Wednesday, April 22, 1778; Thursday, May 6, 1779; Wednesday, April 6, 1780; Thursday, May 3, 1781, and Thursday, April 25, 1782.

The Thanksgiving appointed by Washington for the continental army during the revolution were Thursday, December 8, 1777, and May 7, 1778. This was ordered at Valley Forge. The celebration May 7, 1778, was the most joyous one held during the entire American revolution. It was ordered held when news came that France had concluded a treaty of friendship and alliance with the thirteen colonies of America. It is said that the officers marched thirteen abreast to the amphitheater where the exercises were held. Lafayette and other Frenchmen, Lord Stirling and General Greene participated in the festivities, and in honor of the occasion Washington gave a banquet.

With meat going to prohibitive prices on account of the foot and mouth disease, and western farmers holding back eggs in hopes to boost the price to one dollar a dozen, the prudent housewife will have to resort to fish and vegetables as the staple articles for the family table.

Winter Blasts Our Friend.

As a matter of actual fact, cold has just about as much to do with winter diseases as thunder has with souring milk—which everybody used to believe. Its sole function is to drive people indoors, where the bugs and bacilli of our previous sore throats and snuffles which have followed us into shelter can get at 'em. They have taken root at once and make themselves even more thoroughly at home than we are.

Brave the cold by going freely out of doors and facing gladly the brisk, frosty air, and you can defy the pneumonia devil and all his works. Keep up the fires within you and the frosts without won't hurt you. Breathe the fresh air freely. A man's foes are literally those of his own household, the crops of bugs which he has carefully collected and protected under his sheltering roof, and food and fresh air are our best defenses against them.

Once get clearly in mind that an unventilated, unsunned room is as full of disease germs as a hen-house is of fleas, and you will begin to appreciate the importance of open windows and frequent excursions into the open air. Indoors would not be so bad if it were not for the bad company that we have to keep there. Most of our houses, old ones especially, are full of the realest kinds of spooks,—"boogers that will git you, ef you don't Watch Out!"

Why have we become possessed by such a horror of winter, such a vivid and abject dread of admitting its frosty air into our houses? Largely because until less than a century ago our means of defense and protection against the winter's cold were so pitifully feeble and inadequate. In the bad old days which we look back to so fondly and idiotically with regret and longing, houses were damp, drafty, badly built, badly ventilated, and not only badly heated but incapable of being made comfortably warm with any window open.

Fortunately, this attitude is for the most of us a thing of the past now, and soon will become so for the entire community. With steam or furnace heating, which for the first time in the history of the race enables us to make our houses thoroughly warm and comfortable from top to bottom, with abundance of food the year round, with windows which will open at a touch and will keep out the air when closed instead of permitting it to leak and dribble in all the time, we can defy the winter's terror and get over our obsession of dread of fresh air. It will not be long now before houses will be heated, and supplied with hot water from some central station, as they are now with gas, electricity and cold water.

It is well to remember that there are two periods of the day when even the most enthusiastic fresh-air fiend wants to be, and ought to be, comfortably warm and protected from drafts; these are when bathing and dressing in the morning and while eating meals and during the hour or hour and a half afterward when digestion is getting under way. During this last process a considerable share of the blood of the body is, or ought to be, drawn into the stomach for the purpose of secreting the gastric juice. This naturally leaves the skin insufficiently filled and warmed, and a great sensitiveness to any chill in the external temperature results.

The same sensitiveness to cold will also be found when reading or working late at night, and it is perfectly legitimate and reasonable to attend to it and not allow the temperature to sink below a certain point of comfort,—although, of course it is most important that the air be kept fresh.

Here again the sensation of chilliness is a physiological one and simply means that the brain and nervous system are drawing into their blood vessels a considerable share of the blood of the body and thus leaving a deficiency in the skin. Many brain workers, in fact, suffer greatly from cold feet and cold hands while engaged in their mental tasks.

Personal ventilation, that is to say, the ventilation of ourselves, our clothing, our hair, our teeth and our socks. A very considerable amount of the fouling or contamination of air indoors is caused by the odors and emanations which are given off from the surface of our bodies. In fact, these with the disease germs that are sure to be present, are the really serious features of bad air. Much to our surprise, the ordinary, and what we might call legitimate, fouling of the air by the ordinary process of breathing, is a comparatively slight factor in the danger. In fact, we have been brought into a curious quandary, in that we are utterly unable to say just what it is in the air which comes off from our lungs which makes it poisonous and unsafe for the respiration for others, or a second time by ourselves. Certainly it is not the chief "smoke," or waste product, in our breath carbon dioxid, commonly known as carbonic acid; for this, in order to be poisiouous must be present in amounts nearly ten times as great as it ever reaches even in the foulest indoor air. At all events, it is a perfectly safe rule never to breathe anybody else's breath, nor your own if you possibly can help it.

Each house comes to have its own peculiar atmosphere, each individual his own particular olfactory aroma. Those who have given close attention to asthma and similar diseases, declare that not a little of the well-known benefit from change of air in this disease is due to getting away from those old familiar, domestic odors and the breaths and aromas of our house companions and family.

The most scrupulous cleanliness and careful toilet of the teeth, hair and clothing is not only a matter of comfort and wholesomeness to the individual himself, but a decided benefit to those who have to live in the same house with him. The more frequently our underclothing can be changed and washed the better.

Woolen clothing, in particular has a remarkable power of absorbing and retaining these emanations, and when not in use should be hung in well sunned and well ventilated rooms or passageways, with a good current of air through them. To hang it up in a dark, stuffy, airless closet is simply to ripen and perfect the bouquet of its odors. Coats and dresses should be cleaned frequently.

A change of six or eight weeks to a warm and sunny climate in winter may be the means of prolonging one's life for years, and elderly people, who have the means, would undoubtedly find much benefit in having a home North for summer and one South for winter.—[Woods Hutchinson, A. M., M. D.

LOVELL CENTER.

At the last regular meting of Parker Relief Corps on November 12, Mrs. Mary S. T. Burns of Skowhegan, department inspector, was present and inspected the Corps. Members of Parker Post, G. A. R., were also in attendance and after the exercises refreshments were served.

KEZAR FALLS.

Rev. Reuben Smith, the Evangelist, has finished his work at this place and gone to Farmington.

George Merrill of Portland spent a few days recently with his friends, the Stewarts.

The drama, Daddy, and the farce, Hard of Hearing, given in Knights of Pythias hall last Saturday evening by the senior class of Porter High school, assisted by Ellen Libby, reader, and the Leon Fox orchestra, made a first-class entertainment for a large and appreciative audience. Miss Libby, Dr. McDaniels and Ellsworth Sawyer had kindly given of their time and talent in driling the students in their several parts.

W. J. Norton's solo, Just for Today, which he sang in the Methodist church last Sunday morning, called forth much favorable comment.

Rev. D. B. Holt of Portland, district superintendent, will occupy the Methodist pulpit next Sunday morning and evening, also preaching in the afternoon at North Parsonsfield.

Married in Kezar Falls, Nov. 14, by Rev. Cymbrid Hughes, Mr. Eastman of Bridgton and Mrs. Rose Champion of Kezar Falls.

LOVELL.

Hebron Academy faculty and students have contributed $60 to the Red Cross Fund.

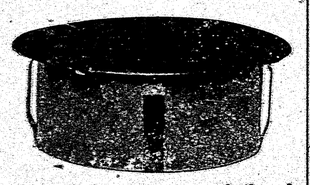

This Wood Heater, made by the Portland Stove Foundry Co., is smooth, air-tight, will keep fire all night, with any wood worth burning, the nickle is removable. There are covers beneath the swing top that a teakettle or spider may be used. Two sizes of each direct and indirect draft.

Carbonal and Creonoid

Carbonal and Creonoid are two of the most valuable adjuncts to housekeeping in the market. They are death to dirt and germs. No blood poisoning, no contagion, no disease germs can live a moment where they are used. A free use of Creonoid will keep the chicken coops and houses absolutely free of lice, mites or disagreeable smells. Carbonal, $1.75 per gallon; Creonoid, 75c per gallon.

CHIMNEY FLUE STOPPERS

That will fit. That are perfectly safe. If in need send fifteen cents with size. Get one by next mail.

ORCHARDING AS A BUSINESS.

"Maine orcharding today needs the support of more men who will devote their attention seriously to its business side," stated Albert K. Gardner, the State horticulturist, recently. "Growers may differ in their ideas as to what method of pruning is best adapted to the conditions, or they may differ in the cropping system, etc., but all who have given the matter serious consideration must realize that simply producing apples is not orcharding.

"Orcharding is a business, and it must be conducted on business lines. We can blame the commission men for the conditions existing at present or if we do we are avoiding the issue. To put the apple industry on its feet and establish permanent foundation for the distribution of the crops, two factors are absolutely necessary. First, clean fruit and good varieties; and second, co-operation.

"There will always be a demand for poor fruit, but it should be so marketed that it will not have a tendency to cut the price of fruit not glut the markets at any time.

"We need have no fear, however, if we care for our trees that there will always be plenty of this grade. Poor grades not only include culls, but also include inferior varieties which in many cases can be produced cheaply and in clean condition.

"We should turn our attention then to the No. 1 and fancy grades of high class varieties and the disposal of them. The first thing that we must do is to produce more of these grades. That is a problem for the individual grower. More care must be exercised in selecting varieties and in the stock for planting, cultivating, pruning, fertilizing, mulching and other orchard practices governs the production of high grade fruit in the orchard, and must be given more serious attention. Cost sheets must be kept to find out how much capital is involved and how much it costs to bring trees into profitable bearing, as well as how much it costs each season to produce the fruit. Again this is up to the individual grower. A great essential then is a uniform production of clean fruit of good variety in the orchard. The next is uniform production in the locality and finally the uniform production in the selling unit, which is, or should be in our case, New England.

"The marketing of our crops in a satisfying manner cannot be accomplished except in a limited way until this condition is realized. It is not nessessary that all of our fruit be fancy and capable of box packing, but it does mean that practicaly all the fruit can be honestly graded into Fancy and No. 1. Many growers have accomplished this part already and all can do it if they practice up-to-date methods of handling their trees.

"In regard to the disposal of our fruit it seems foolhardy to cuss the commission man at this stage. We are dependent upon him and should use him instead of abuse him at least until we are capable of handling our crops without his aid. Dealing direct from the producer to the consumer is a great thing; provided both are organized for co-operation purposes and is absolutely useless to the average person in either class without this organization.

"Organization of the consumer will not be satisfactory unless they can buy in quantities produce that is as guaranteed, and such produce can be available in such amounts and as guaranteed only from growers' associations.

"The western fruit can be ousted from our local markets, provided a large uniform supply of fancy fruit of high quality is available. This is possible especially as a cold storage plant has been installed in Portland and as others are found to follow in other parts of the State, so that fruit may be held until the demand calls for it. Poorly graded fruits of promiscous sorts will never attain this end.

"A live growers' association or series of associations can produce this fruit store it will furnish a steady supply to the vendors. Varieties such as McIntosh and Spy are suited to this trade.

"The Oxford Bears' Fruit Growers' Association has already obtained the contract for fruit handled on the Maine Central Railroad and the reports from its sales are very flattering.

THE LITTLE REFUGEE.

Last year her father's arms, so strong,
Lifted her high to see
The lights and all the precious toys
Upon the Christmas tree.

"But now there is no home," she said,
"Nor anywhere to go—
The big guns battered down the church
And every place I know.

"We came away so quick, and yet
How plainly I can see
My little table set with cups
Where I was playing 'tea.'

"We came so far, I never hear
From papa any more—
The bugles called, he said good-bye,
And kissed me at the door.

"I dreamed last night he stood by me,
His hand upon my head,
'God bless and keep my little girl,'
The words he softly said.

"His head was bowed—he looked so sad—
The room grew strangely light;
And as I woke he said 'good-bye,'
And faded from my sight!"

ALMA PENDEXTER HAYDEN.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

These cards which have been sent out announce an interesting bridal which will be an event of Thanksgiving:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Hamlin request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter
Alice May

COLDS

An up-to-date remedy for colds. That is what Peruna is. In successful use over 50 years.

Colds are caught in many ways: Illy ventilated rooms; rooms that have direct draughts; crowded rooms; damp houses; stuffy school rooms; offices illy heated.

A dose of Peruna at the right time, at the first symptom of cold, before the bones begin to ache, before the sore throat manifests itself, or the cough, or the discharge from the nose, just a dose or two of Peruna before these symptoms begin is generally sufficient. But after the cold is once established with the above symptoms prominent, a bottle of Peruna, or maybe two, will be necessary.

"For several years I have been troubled with colds at each change of season. I took Peruna and have not been troubled with the slightest cold this entire season." Mr. Harry Fisher, 1928 Mosher St., Baltimore, Md.

"I give the children Peruna if they have a cold, and it always relieves them." Mrs. I. D. Hayes, 1937 Druid Hill Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"When I feel a cold coming on I take a little Peruna, and it does me good." Mr. Charles S. Many, 12 Water St., Ossining, N. Y.

"No family should ever be without Peruna, for it is an unfailing cure for colds." Mrs. M. F. Jones, Burning Springs, Ky.

HARRISON.

There will be a special Thanksgiving service in the Congregational church next Sunday morning. And in the evening the Pastor will show steriopticon pictures upon the Landing of the Pilgrims, etc., and give a talk on the subject. There will be special music.

Mrs. Fred C. Green is confined to the house with sickness.

Mrs. Emma Perry from Bridgton was in town recently calling upon frinds.

Mr. and Mrs. William Flint of Sweden were the guests of relatives in town, Sunday.

Lincoln Burnham, who is working in Rumford, spent the week end here with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Flint made an automobile trip to Raymond, Sebago Lake and Bridgton the past week.

Mrs. Edith Bartlett left on Monday for Boston where she has a position for the winter.

Oscar Kneeland is ill of typhoid fever, with a professional nurse in attendance.

Scribner's Mills and Maple Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Scribner was in Richmond and Portland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bourdon Scribner spent a few days at his old home at Scribner's Mills recently.

K. C. Smith has finished work for Scribner Bros. at the mill and has returned to Edes Falls.

Jason P. Little had the misfortune to saw his right hand badly and lost a part of two fingers while at work in the mill for Scribner Bros.

OTISFIELD.

Alpheus Holden's baby is sick with tonsilitis.

Chester Lombard's colt, two years old, kicked so badly in the pasture that he was obliged to kill him.

Gene Edwards found one of his steers dead in the pasture recently.

Will Denning shot a doe, Thursday. Elmer Latulip shot one the same day.

Gene Edwards raised 51 bushels of lima beans this season; Alpheus Holden, 40; Frank Latulip, 17; Russell Edwards, 8.

Will Denning has lately purchased a fine Belgian breech loading gun of Leon Wentworth of Bridgton.

Foot and Mouth Disease.

In the exciting crisis created by the appearance of the terrible contagion among cattle it may be important for Oxford County farmers to know that this disease begins with a very red and angry-looking sore between the two toes. This soon becomes ulcerated and then incrusted with dirt.

Drooling from the mouth follows. On lifting up the lips the mucous membrane will be found to be ulcerated in irregular lines, running often up into the nostrils.

The animal frequently smacks its lips. There is a falling off of weight and in the amount of milk the animal gives.

The treatment which authorities prescribe for detecting a case of the disease is as follows:

Isolate at once the animals in which the disease appears and those who have been anywhere near them.

Establish an absolute quarantine on the farm.

Do not go near or touch the diseased animal unless you are wearing a rubber coat, rubber boots and rubber gloves. Disinfect these as soon as you leave with a 5 per cent. solution of carbolic acid.

Communicate by telegraph or telephone with the State Department of Agriculture or with the United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

If the disease is found the animal must be killed at once, as well as those who have been exposed to it. The ones that have not contracted the disease may be used for food.

Everything that has been near the animal or may have been a possible source of infection must be disinfected.

May Plans Work for Good.

Plans are being worked out at Washington to utilize the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Immigration and Post Office Department in conveying information to the farmer and the man looking for work on the farm. Great care is to be exercised in selecting applicants who are fitted by experience, tongue, etc.

The new plan, which is really a mammoth employment bureau, will provide hands for the Maine farmers, as an attempt will be made to induce aliens landing at Maine and other translantic ports to go on the farms instead of remaining in the cities.

Women in the United States now have the full voting franchise in eleven states, and the advance was made without resort to any of the militant methods which have made the British suffragettes infamous.

OTISFIELD GORE.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Francis have hired the Sawyer farm.

Charlie Grover took Jacob Whitman and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Scribner to Portland one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brett and children spent Sunday with her aunt in Denmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Douglass were recent guests at her father's A. K. Hill's.

Frederick Robie Grange held their regular meeting Saturday evening. There was a good attendance. The first and second degrees were conferred and the following program was given:—Song, Mildred Durrell, Gladys Rowe; Encore; Reading, Lilian Fox; Reading, Thannie Green; Topic, To how great an extent may we profit by buying together and selling together? Opened by Willard Brett.

School closed here Friday, Nov. 13, after a term of eleven weeks, taught by Gladys W. Rowe of Oxford. Miss Rowe is one of our best teachers and all are hoping she will come back to teach the winter term which will begin Monday, Nov. 30. BOLSTER'S MILLS

The weather has been the chief topic of conversation for the past week. Wednesday evening with a biting air and a sky studded with stars the beholder saw lightning at intervals for a half hour. Thursday was a balmy day. Friday evening a thunder shower and Sunday evening the rain descended, a most welcome sight for those who have hauled water for a long time. Such a scarcity of water was never known before in this vicinity. Our immediate village has been supplied but the farmers on the hills have suffered much inconvenience. A marvelous panorama greeted the eyes at sunset Monday night when the storm cleared.

Last Wednesday evening the Ladies' Aid gave an entertainment at Grange hall. A baked bean supper was served followed by a brief program as follows:

Instrumental duet	Mrs. Genevieve Walker, Mrs. Ethel Skillings
Reading	Mrs. Florence Stuart
Encore
Song	Lizzie Edwards and Mildred French
Violin solo	Mrs. Laite
Reading	Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner
Encore
Song	Ethel Jillson

Broom drill	Fourteen ladies
Encore

A social closed the evening's fun. A goodly sum was realized for the treasury. It is understood that the gentlemen will serve as committeee for the December entertainment.

The Sunday services were of unusual interest. Rev. Mr. Laite preached in the afternoon from the word, "Inasmuch." Heurged greater zeal in Christian service and said there were too many "dried-up Christians, who lacking enthusiasm, injured the cause of Christianity. In the evening the pastor gave a talk on the great convention of the Methodists in Boston, which he attended. The talk was greatly enjoyed by all. This week the cottage prayer meetings will commence. The new singing books are expected soon.

HARBOR.

Mrs. C. F. Waterhouse of North Conway visited her sister, Mrs. A. W. McKeen recently. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith of Fryeburg were also guests at the McKeen's, Sunday.

Rev. A. L. Taylor will close his work here the 22nd. He has a chance to preach and attend Cornell University in New York, and will begin work in the new field the Sunday after Thanksgiving. Mr. and Mr. Taylor carry the best wishes of all.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Charles were in North Conway, Saturday. Mr. Charles went to consult a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gould were in Bridgton, Saturday.

W. E. Benson and family and Mrs. C. E. Stanley, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker of Toll Bridge called on grandma Stearns at her home in Lovell. Nov. 10, it being her 95th birthday. Grandma Stearns is remarkably smart for a woman of her age and all spent a very pleasant afternoon.

Norman, little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, is on the sick list.

Mrs. Annie Smart of Fryeburg Center called on Mrs. W. E. Benson, Saturday.

School will close this week on account of Mrs. Taylor's going away, and the remainder of the term will be put into the winter term.

Mrs. Susan Eastman is still in poor health.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Mrs. E. L. Walker is slowly recovering from the injuries received from a fall.

Fred Meserve is erecting a building suitable for a carriage house, but it looks as though it might be a garage in the near future.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brock has been very sick with the prevailing distemper, but is better.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hardy; also Mrs. Guy Emerson are on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Andrews spent the week end in Portland, the guests of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Seekins.

E. W. Burbank is somewhat improved since his return from Togus, but Mrs. Burbank is no better.

Thoughts About War.

When a country is once at war the government informs its people that, no matter what their individual convictions may be, they must all support the war. Or, as one statesman has expressed it, "It is no time to consider rights and wrongs when the house is on fire." But when a man's house is on fire he does not run off to find and punish the man who set it on fire. He tries to put the fire out. Thus the best news that can come to America is not that the Allies or the Germans have been victorious; the best news will be the news that the conflagration is over, that peace is at hand. Benjamin Franklin, who was far more advanced in civilization than the vast majority of people who are living today, said: "All wars are follies. There never was a good war."

Right Relishes.

With fish, meat and game, serve the following relishes:

Roast pork and roast goose, apple sauce.
Roast turkey, cranberry sauce.
Boiled turkey, oyster sauce.
Boiled chicken, bread sauce.
Roast beef, grated harseradish.
Roast veal, tomato or mushroom sauce.
Boiled mutton, caper sauce.
Lamb, mint sauce.
Broiled fresh mackerel, stewed gooseberries.
Boiled bluefish, white cream sauce.
Broiled shad, boiled rice and salad.
Fresh salmon, green peas with cream sauce.

There is much sympathy for the Belgians, not only in this country, but throughout the world. This little nation has been almost totally destroyed by the Germans. Contributions have been liberally made in America and the Rockfeller Foundation has in preparation ship-loads of food and clothing for these destitute people. Now comes a rumor that the Germans will object to this charity, insisting that the Belgians return to work. After having devastated the country, taken all the horses and automobiles, and killed most of the able bodied men, this is a hard thing for the survivors to do. Germany will do well to listen to the sentiment of the world before going to far.

HUDSON Six-40

This Year $1,550 F. O. B. Detroit

Howard E. Coffin Puts End to Car Over-Tax

Welcome this new-model HUDSON.

It brings a new zest to motoring, and it lifts a good many burdens.

It marks the end of excess—in size and power, in weight and upkeep, in price and fuel cost.

Howard E. Coffin and his 48 engineers have solved many problems in this new-type car.

The problems of beauty, comfort and convenience. There are many attractions found in no other car.

The problems of lightness. Crudely built, this car would weigh 1,000 pounds more. Skill and ingenuity reduce weight just as they reduce cost and increase quality.

The problems of operative cost. The lightness saves tires. The new-type motor has greatly reduced fuel cost.

The problems of price. In the past year alone they have reduced that $200. Now a quality Six—in many respects the finest car of the day—sells for $1,550.

The Future Type

This, beyond question is the coming type of car. All advances now tend in this direction. Modest in size, yet with ample room for seven. Light and economical. A car of the finest quality, yet not overpriced. An impressive, satisfactory car.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight

with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

NECESSITIES OF LIFE.

The right medicine at the right time, is as much a necessity as food, shelter or clothes. Perhaps more so.

In its 60 years of relieving stomach troubles, remedying constipation and biliousness, and restoring strength and appetite, "L. F." Atwood's Medicine has become practically a necessity of New England life.

Mrs. Whitcomb's letter simply confirms what thousands of other folks already know:

Hampden Highlands, Me.

"Have used your "L. F." Atwood's Medicine for more than 20 years. We consider it nearly as necessary as our food."

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR STOMACH

If It's Upset Mi-o-na Puts It Right and Ends Distress or Nothing to Pay.

If you are one of the thousands who cannot eat a simple meal without its lying in the stomach like lead, fermenting and causing painful distress, sourness and gas, do not delay but go at once to your druggist and get some Mi-o-na—a simple prescription especially prepared to quickly and effectively end indigestion or dyspepsia and correct bad stomachs.

You must not allow your upset stomach to go from bad to worse for there will surely be longer periods of food fermentation causing greater agony, more gas, sick headache, unrefreshing sleep, "blue spells" and nervousness.

If your stomach is out of order, feels badly after meals, you must put it right. A few Mi-o-na tablets are just what you need—always keep them handy—they are small, pleasant to take, and absolutely harmless. Use Mi-o-na freely at the first sign of distress. It not only quickly ends the misery but helps to unclog the liver, cleanse and strengthen the stomach so it can digest your food in the natural way, then you are well, hale and hearty.

Mi-o-na is not only one of the most effective remedies but inexpensive. Noyes Drug store sells it with agreement to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. 45&47

OXFORD.

The bridge on King street near the covered bridge, which has been repaired, is now open to travel.

The first meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society for the study of the Indian was a very interesting one. It was held at the Congregational parsonage and was conducted by the pastor. The different phases of the home life, vocational and educational, were discussed by Mrs. G. B. Turner, Mrs. John Elden, Mrs. S. F. Keene, Mrs. E. W. Edwards, Mrs. Etta Towne, Mrs. C. F. Starbird, Edith Thomas and Miss Paine. Mrs. James Cook gave an interesting paper on the sign language. Specimens of Indian relics from the collection of Joseph Davis were on exhibition.

Mrs. Fannie Heath of Lewiston was in town for the purpose of interesting people in a dancing class. If the class is formed the lesson will take place on Friday evening of each week at Robinson Hall. The lesson will be followed by an assembly. A lesson for children will be given at 4 p. m.

Last week the Camp Fire Girls held their meeting at Mrs. George Towne's with Marion Wheeler as hostess. This week Isabelle Parrott entertained the Camp.

The new books at the library are ready for distribution. A printed list is in preparation and will be given out Jan. 1. Two hundred and ninty persons are registered as patrons of the library and one hundred and sixteen books were loaned Saturday.

B. D. Mitchell has shot a deer.

STOW.

Benj. Barbour has sold his farm to Herbert Andrews of Bridgton and intends to move in the spring.

School closes at Union Hill this Friday, after a very successful term taught by Earl Fox of West Lovell. There will be one week of vacation and the winter term commences taught by Langdon Andrews of North Fryeburg.

Will Sanborn did a small job of mason work for O. P. Stevens, recently.

Helen Abbott has visited at O. P. Stevens'. Victor Hodgdon and family have visited his sister, Mrs. Roy Emery. Helen Abbott visited Mrs. W. H. Richardson of Lovell. A. P. Copp of Cornish called on relatives and friends. O. P. Stevens and wife have visited at Charley Barrows'.

Q. W. Stevens met with a severe accident recently. In splitting kindling wood the axe caught on the clothes line, bouncing back, striking him on the face, cutting a gash over his eye and grazing other places on his face.

The welcome rain has come at last. Nearly all the mills are dry and no water in the brooks.

Mrs. O. P. Stevens has had a party of six of her old home friends from Eaton, N. H., visit her.

SOUTH CASCO.

Albert Watkins had the good fortune to shoot a large buck with eight points. Elmer Harmon, Cook's Mill, also got one the same day.

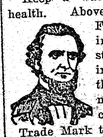

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards and three children of Bolster's Mills, were guests of the Charles Lords, Cook's Mills, during the recent week-end.

Mrs. Nettie Bailey Jewett was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. William S. Watkins and family, while en route from Songo to Portland, where she is spending a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Manchester and family have moved from the house owned by Mrs. Abby Watkins and are now occupying the residence formerly owned and occupied by the late John C. Jaquis, Bridgton Road.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE WORMS

Keep a watchful eye on your child's health. Above all, guard against worms.

Familiar symptoms of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, costiveness, pale face of leaden Trade Mark tint, bluish rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, languor, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

Grown folks are subject to worms also.

The one best remedy is Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. First sold by my father in 1851—today it has a world-wide reputation. Good for adults also. Get a bottle today—at your dealer's: 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

Only Sure Corn Cure Ever Known

"Gets-It" the New Way, 2 Drops Do It

To endure the pains and tortures caused by a little thing like a corn is ridiculous, simply because it is unnecessary. The new-plan corn cure,

"GETS-IT," is the first one ever known to remove corns without fail, without pain and without trouble. This is why it is the biggest-selling corn cure in existence today. It is now used by millions, because it does away with sticky tape, with plasters and cotton rings that shift their position and press down onto the corn, with salves that "raw up" the toe, with "harnesses" that cause pressure and pain, with knives, razors and files, clawing and pulling at a corn. "GETS-IT" is applied in two seconds. Two drops applied with the glass rod do the work. Pain goes, the corn shrivels, vanishes. Accept no substitute. Try it on any corn, wart, callus or bunion tonight.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

FRYEBURG.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Bemis) Merrill, an aged citizen of Biddeford, who passed away in that city recently, was brought to Fryeburg for burial in the family lot in Pine Grove Cemetry. She was a former resident of Fryeburg and was a very estimable woman. She was the widow of John Calvin Merrill, who died many years ago. Since the death of her husband she had made her home with children in Boston and also in Biddeford. She was, while in Fryeburg, a member of the church of the New Jerusalem, and later she became a member of the Boston church of the New Jerusalem. Brief services were held at the cemetery, which were conducted by her former pastor, Rev. Baman N. Stone of Fryeburg. She leaves three sons, Axford Clinton Merrill of New Hampshire, George Edwin Merrill of Biddeford, with whom she made her home, and Calvin Sherman Merrill of Boston and also grandchildren. Her eldest son, Walter Preston Merrill, died several years ago. She leaves, among other relatives, an aged sister, Mrs. Mary B. Blake of North Fryeburg. Last August, Mrs. Merrill, who was then in good health, visited her sister and other friends in town, and all remarked that she did not show her great age, 86 years, very much.

Charles Edward Thurlow, the young son of Dr. and Mrs. N. C. Thurlow, celebrated his third birthday with a party of young friends at his home on Stuart street.

Mrs. Marshall Walker of Lovell has been among the guests of her cousin, Fannie Tibbetts, and also the guest of other friends in town. She is to spend the winter in Hartford, Conn., with friends.

Dr. Arthur Lougee of Fryeburg gave an interesting address to the nurses of Memorial Hospital at North Conway, N. H.

The North Conway, N. H. Woman's club, at a recent meeting, voted to send a contribution to the suffering people of Belgium.

Mary Scott Allen of Portland is teaching classes and private pupils in the modern dances at Conway, N. H., and is meeting with her usual great success.

Arthur Shirley of East Conway, N. H., who was elected State senator in the recent election in New Hampshire, has his home just across the Saco river from Fryeburg, and has many friends in town who are pleased to learn of his success. He has received many congratulations. Mr. Shirley is a strong Republican in politics, and was a member of the last New Hampshire Legislature. He is serving his second term as selectman of the town of Conway. He received over 500 more votes than the Democratic candidate, Harry H. Randall, the proprietor of The Randall House at North Conway, N. H.

Isaac Mortimer Wellington, a former principal of Fryeburg Academy, died in Chicago on Friday last at the age of 84 years. According to Mr. Wellington's wish the body was cremated and the ashes brought to Fryeburg for burial in the family lot in Pine Grove cemetery. Mr. Wellington is survived by a daughter Mrs. Mary Costain, and a son, Arthur W. Wellington, both of Chicago.

The meeting of the Woman's Missionary society was held with Mrs. Caroline Stearns, Mrs. T. L. Eastman presiding. Devotional exercises, Mrs. L. B. Hatch. The subject was Indians, and the program as follows:—Paper, Red men and the government, Mrs. T. Charles; reading, Among the Atsaraks, Mrs. Lillian Pike; reading, Among the North American Indians, Mrs. Lila Cousins; reading, Mrs. Frank Peterson; current events, Mrs. F. Woodside, Mrs. F. D. Swan. This was one of the largest gatherings this year and a very interesting meeting. Dainty and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Stearns, assisted by Mrs. D. C. Towle and Mrs. Edward Ela.

The New Century Sunday School Teachers Monthly for November contains a poem entitled, "A Thank Offering" by Idella Hill Clark. Mrs. Clark is a graduate of Fryeburg Academy in the class of 1912.

RUMFORD.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Greene have returned from their wedding trip.

Mrs. Ella Buzzell has bought Fred W. Davis' cottage on Prospect Ave.

Mrs. Leon Fortier and children, who have been visiting relatives in Old Town, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rennie have moved into the upstairs rent of David Beers' house on Hancock street.

Edna Lord is visiting Mrs. R. L. Nicholson of Portland.

Mrs. S. Seymour Cullerton and children visited friends in Newry, staying over Sunday.

NORTHWEST NORWAY.

At the wedding reception, Nov. 6, of Harold Merrill and Pearl Cecil French at Chester French's, they danced and played and had a nice treat of candy, grapes and bananas.

ALBANY.

Albert O. Jordan.

Albert O. Jordan died at Augusta, Nov. 5, at the age of 75 years and 2 days. He was the son of Thomas J. and Lydia (Proctor) Jordan.

Mr. Jordan was a vetran in the Civil war having served in the 11th Maine Regiment, Company A, and was the participant of many hard fought battles.

He is survived by two brothers:—Joshiah P. Jordan of Siskiyon, California and David A. Jordan of Norway; also several nephews anh nieces.

The funeral was held at the farm of his brother, David Jordan in Albany.

Words of comfort were spoken by Rev. C. G. Miller. Interment took place at the Albany Cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Mrs. Ainsworth Cummings and son Theron, who have been visiting friends in this town for the past month, have returned to their home in the West.

The great business of the day for the last two weeks, has been packing and hauling apples. There have been lots of apple buyers in town of late. Robert Kimball of North Waterford has bought quite a lot. R. L. Cummings of West Paris has bought a lot in town again this fall and two or three other parties. Most of the fruit growers in this vicinity never stopped to see how much they would have left for their No. 2 Baldwins after they paid 43 cents for their barrels and getting them hauled, 25 cents for picking, 20 cents for hauling and loading on cars, 13 cents per barrel for packing and boarding the apple packers and their horse which amounts to $1.01 expense. Lots of them sold for 75c per barrel, loaded on cars so they lost 16 cents on a barrel, or in other words they gave the buyer 16 cents per barrel to take their apples, instead of giving the apples to some of their poor neighbors or some of the poor people in the cities.

Mrs. Lizzie Cummings has gone to New Hampshire to visit her two sisters, Linda and Mary.

But a very few deer have been shot as yet.

Herbert and George Cummings have their new barn about finished.

Preston Flint, Wallace Bird, William Bird, Harry McNally, Abel Andrews, Mrs. John Lewis, Lute Andrews and John Wheeler sold their aples to Dexter A. Cummings. He bought quite a lot of odd varieties and sent to New Hampshire and Vermont what other apple packers would not take. Every lot of apples in town is sold except one or two small lots.

Carl Upton of North Albany has been helping D. A. Cummings pack a few apples.

Guy Cummings took lots of pains in packing his No. 1 Baldwins and threw all the No. 2 apples in with the cider apples. When he got his returns from across the water he got $1.95 per barrel net. He has gone to work for R. L. Cummings of West Paris. Howard Allen is packing for him.

A. L. Copeland has sent a crew out from Bethel, pressing up the hay. He pressed Austin Hutchinson's, Will Newcom's, Fred Scribner's, Herbert Bean's, George Cummings', Guy Cummings' and Frank Sloan's. Fred Scribner has sold his hay to Isaac Morrill & Son.

Tyler has gone down to Mechanic Falls.

Guy Johnson has got back to work again.

Will Newcomb has hired some Finns to cut his pulp timber.

Harry McNally has finished his job sawing up pulp wood for Parker Flint.

BETHEL.

Florence C. Hastings, daughter of Hon. D. R. Hastings of Auburn, a graduate of Wellesley and Sargent School, has been appointed physical director of the woman's division at Colby. Miss Hastings served at director of gymnastics at the Salem, Mass., Normal School last year.

Will Garey shot an eight point buck in Gilead and Myron Bryant shot a doe.

Mrs. Grace Skillings, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Olive Grover, returned to her home in Harvard, Mass., Tuesday.

Mrs. C. D. Manny, who has been spending some time with her mother, Mrs. A. F. Copeland, started for her home in Newcastle, New Brunswick, Tuesday morning.

Helen Staples of Hanover is spending a few weeks as the guest of Mrs. Agnes Ames.

Mrs. A. W. Somerville has returned to Boston, where she spent several weeks with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Stearns have closed their house at South Paris and will spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. E. C. Park.

Mrs. Lucy Folsom of Milan, N. H., is visiting Mrs. Sidney Howe for a few days on her way to South Framingham, Mass., where she will spend the winter.

Methel Packard has gone to Skowhegan where has a position as telephone operator.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. King are packing their household goods, preparatory to moving to Florida.

Mrs. Hiram Wiles of Norway was a guest of her sister, Mrs. William Lowe, one day last week.

EAST SUMNER.

Ladies of the Congregational Circle will present in the near future the comedy entitled, The Church Fair. The date is not fully determined.

The Grange Fair, social and dance last week was well attended and successful.

Mrs. Alice Snell of Isle-au-Haute and Agnes M. Heald of Canton were in town and were at Ezra Keene's over Sunday.

Herbert Harlow, who had a nice strawberry bed, picked some berries from it last week. After a late snow fall, he picked several fully ripe berries beneath the snow. Mr. Harlow at present, is unable to work on account of an attack of rheumatism.

After being a "shut-in" for several weeks, Mrs. Sharon Robinson was able to attend the Grange on Saturday. She was pleased to receive a box of cake from the Ladies Relief Corps recently.

White and Young's motion picture and musical show at the K. of P. hall Monday evening was pronounced one of the best entertainments ever produced here. They are to remain here for the week.

BILLBOARDS AND CIVIC BEAUTY

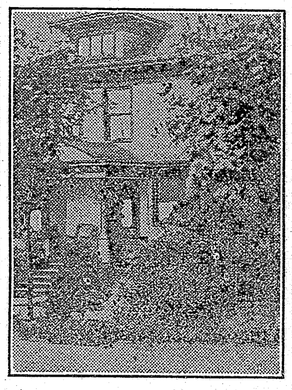

Huge Signs Are Offensive to the Eyes.

RUIN LANDSCAPE EFFECTS.

Many Cities Have Passed Ordinances For the Regulation of the Billboard Nuisance, but With Little Avail. Boycott of Advertisers Suggested.

"The city beautiful" is no longer a mere phrase. It is practical, because persons everywhere are doing their best toward achieving the perfect whole by studying and beautifying their surroundings, says the Indianapolis News. In grandmother's day only a few of the more wealthy people attempted decorative gardening. Today from the stunted zinnias in the 8 by 10 smoke grimed yard of the factory district to the expensive rose gardens in the great estates nearly every home displays its floral treasures. Immense farms and extensive greenhouses have become a necessity to supply the public with the seeds and plants, while spring and fall the mail and express cars are heavy with millions of packages. To the curriculum of the school has been added nature study. Tiny garden tracts are assigned to the children, and they are taught to plant seeds and cultivate the soil. We have Arbor day, devoted to the planting of trees, and the trend is all toward a closer acquaintance with nature.

Cities all over the country are spending millions of dollars in converting unsightly wastes into parks so that the poorest may enjoy flowers and grass and sunshine. But few joys are unalloyed. A citizen may spend years in adorning his grounds only to see some one under the cover of legitimate advertising erect a gigantic billboard on the adjoining ground, where it is an offense to the eyes of every passerby and where it detracts from property values. City park boards seem powerless to prevent the billboard from encroaching on their preserves or near enough to them to destroy landscape effects which have cost great sums. You may visit many cities and travel far over the country, and yet everywhere you will find the same story. Beside tasteful gardens and grounds that show the care of the owner you will find the hideous billboard. It is strung along the drives, it desecrates the boulevards and infests the cities until scarcely an "unadvertised" view remains.

NEARLY EVERY HOME DISPLAYS ITS FLORAL TREASURES.

Many cities have passed ordinances for the regulation of the billboard nuisance, and there are scarcely any that have not attempted something of the kind, but somehow or other these advertising monstrosities have power and money and "influence" in politics as well as in trade. From the nation wide cry against the billboard it would seem that we have almost reached that point where every property owner must recognize the ethical right of his neighbor to aesthetic enjoyment as well as physical well being—where the billboard will be placed where it belongs, with the nuisances. Even now it is a question if the advertising value of the billboard is not in an inverse ratio to the aggressiveness of the billboard owners. In some cases where billboards have become particularly obnoxious individuals and neighbors, unable to defend themselves against the nuisance, have become so provoked as to refuse to purchase any article so advertised.

Town Planning and Schools.

At the international congress of town planning, held at Ghent, M. Jules Brunfarst, architect, of Brussels and member of the Royal Academy of Belgium, communicated a report on the value of universities, academies and schools of art establishing definite courses of instruction in town planning under its dual aspect of technique and aesthetic. He gave it as his opinion, which was generally indorsed, that all architects, engineers and people intrusted with the administration of public works, both for government districts and towns, should be required to have followed a course of instruction in civic design and to hold a diploma for it. This, of course, was making a very bold claim for educational work on the subject, but there can be no doubt that sooner or later it will be looked upon as part of the necessary equipment of the municipal constructor and engineer.

Ralph Jordan, '16, of Bangor was elected captain of the 1915 Hebron Academy football team at the annual meting.

MILLETTVILLE.

Gentlemen's Night.

On Saturday, Nov. 7, the Ladies' Sewing club at Millettville gave their second Gentlemen's Night. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millett were the host and hostess. It was an oyster supper of first quality with all the frills. The fancy cakes and divers pies were legion. In fact, 'twill be hard to find elsewhere, cooks quite equal to such occassions unless it be in Norway, and this end of the town holds its full share. Covers were laid for 22 at the first sitting and how the crackers and pickles flew from one bowl to another. There was a side issue as to who was to be the winner, Ernest Bradlee or Miles Adams, but somehow the judges lost count.

It was fortunate that the judges had passed on to the front room before the ladies sat down, else the blue ribbon might have fallen to one of them, which one we won't say.

During the evening Eleanor Kneeland, who is teaching in the neighborhood, entertained with music and story, assisted by Mrs. S. I. Jackson in song and Fred Lovejoy on the violin. At the close all joined in the old time songs.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millett, Marion and Francis, Mrs. Sarah Millett, Harry Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holt, Mr. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millett and son Leslie, Miles Adams, Mrs. Ann Millett, Anson Millett, Eleanor Kneeland, Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Millett, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Westleigh, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lovejoy, Fred Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Jackson, Bradlee, Eleanor and Eva, Ernest Bradlee, Rust Jackson, Charles Foster, North Norway; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, Verna, Alpheus and Elizabeth.

SOUTH HARRISON.

Hazel Littlehale is unable to attend school on account of throat trouble.

One day last week was "moving day" in South Harrison. Seth Jewett moved the schoolhouse shed to Harrison village and Melvin Jordan moved a hen house from Cook's Mills to his home.

Wallace Stevens and family have moved onto the Andrew Wardwell farm for the winter.

Eugene Gray, Elbridge Sanborn and Wallace Stevens have been working in Denmark for several weeks. Have painted and repaired the buildings at Camp Accomac and have put in a furnace for Mr. Gray's father-in-law, Wallace Berry.

Warren Lewis and wife, also his brother Austin, from Newton Lower Falls, Mass., have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Elbridge Sanborn, and other relatives.

Howard Randall has sold four Durham steers and one heifer to Chas. Batchelder, recently.

Rexford DeWitt and Leslie Reed shot a deer last week.

The many friends of Oscar Kneeland and Mrs. Fred Greene are sorry to hear of their illness at their homes in Harrison village.

Howard Grene, Allan Clark and son of Bridgton spent Saturday night and Sunday at A. C. Buck's. When only a short distance from Mr. Buck's, his auto refused to go and for a short time it was feared there was serious trouble but Mr. Greene soon found that it was all for the want of gasoline and as this was soon supplied they went on their way rejoicing. Howard Buck rode back to Bridgton Academy with them.

Hanna Rimpilainen is enjoying a vacation and is visiting her sister, Mrs. Victor Pulkkinen.

Jesse Lewis is peddling.

Jesse Little met with a serious accident at Scribner's mill one day last week. In some way his hand got caught in the saw and he lost two fingers on his right hand. A few years ago his father, Orra Little, lost his right arm at this mill.

The Finns held a meeting at John Wilson's last Sunday.

NORTHEAST LOVELL.

Joseph Farnham and wife visited Sunday at Otis Andrews', at Mt. Sabattus.

William Stanford and family spent Sunday at G. H. Eastman's. Isabelle Andrews visited Alice Eastman of No. 8, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Max Eastman of No. 8 is gaining.

Charles True of Lovell spent Sunday at Ralph McAllister's at West Lovell.

Mellen Eastman and wife of No. 8 went to Bridgton, Friday, on business.

George Milliken is poorly.

Charles Fox of Slab City is away logging for Tom Stearns of Lovell village.

Only a Leaf.

When you see a leaf fall from a tree do we wonder how that leaf can be converted into money?

Hardly! 'Tis only a leaf.

Yet at this season of the year there are countless billions of leaves falling from trees, and every single leaf is of value if the human brain cares to utilize it.

These leaves can be swept into a pile in the back yard, or elsewhere, and converted into a compost heap for use on the garden next summer. There is no better fertilizer.

They will make the radishes, the string beans, tomatoes and other garden truck spring into life as if touched by a magic wand. They will be a constant reminder that even the dropping of a leaf is not without its significance, its commercial value.

Convert your leaves into wealth. 'Tis an easy thing to do.

Increase in Price of Maine Apples.

The foreign apple market is stronger. The Norway Fruit Growers' Association got returns on a recent shipment of $2.03 net.

The highest got through Frank Hamilton & Co., Portland, has been $2.30 and the lowest on No. 2 Ben Davis, $1.30 net per barrel.

There is a demand for apples in England but it is almost impossible to get vessels to take them accross as there is more freight than the ships can carry.

BRYANT POND.

The grammar school closed Nov. 13, Marjorie Penley, teacher. In the afternoon games were played, after which a treat of sandwiches, cake and cocoa was served. Names of scholars not absent one-half day:

Mason Allen, Florence Farrar,
Thelma Farnum, Lydia Newell,

THE T. D. PIPE.

The query of the Boston Globe as to the significance of "T. D." on the old clay pipe, and the recollection of Mr. Asa F. Riggs that they were initials of Timothy Dexter of Newburyport, Mass., has brought to light some interesting particulars concerning that eccentric character. Timothy Dexter was born in Malden, Mass., Jan. 22, 1747, and died in Newburyport, Oct. 22, 1806. He rose from poverty to affluence and assumed the title of Lord Timothy Dexter. His residence in Newburyport was a large two story house with extensive grounds and on each fence post, and about the grounds, were wooden statues representing distinguished personages of the past and present. It is said that occasionally by the use of paint, he would change these statues from one character to another. Years after he was dead and gone the house was still standing, and was pointed out to the present writer, but the statues had disappeared.

Some of Dexter's fortune was made in land deals in what is now the city of Belfast, and in this vicinity. When the township was bought in October, 1768, the land was divided into 51 rights or shares and Williamson's History of Belfast (Vol. 1) says: "Dexter made quite a fortune speculating in buying the rights of several proprietors, which were not reclaimed after the town was abandoned during the revolution." In the Waldo County Registry of Deeds (copied from the Hancock Registry) are eleven deeds from Timothy Dexter to various parties, running from the 1st to the 31st volume. When the first deed was recorded the land was in Lincoln county, when next recorded it was in Hancock county, and it is now in Waldo county. This deed was drawn in 1783, and is from Timothy Dexter of "Newburyport," Mass., a Bay Trader, to Laughlin McDonald, for the consideration of 133 pounds, 6 shillings and 6 pence, Salmon Point, of 33 acres "bounded on the river;" also 100 acres "bounded on the front on said Penobscot river," formerly the property of Jeremiah Pecker. The deed was witnessed in 1790 and recorded in 1793. Another deed to James Gilmore was witnessed in 1783 and recorded in 1812. Belfast then included all the land to Half-way creek, now in the center of Searsport village and also contained North and South ponds.

Among the stories told of this eccentric character is that relating to the T. D. pipes, which is to the effect that he left a certain sum to the pipe factory on the condition that the pipes should always bear his initials. He was interested in shipping and on one occasion had a vessel going to the West Indies for a cargo and the captain not wishing to go out light, asked what he should take, and was told to "take warming pans." Some of our readers may know what the old-fashioned warming pans were like, but others will not, and they may be described as a round pan of copper with a perforated lid on a hinge, and a long handle. The pan was filled with live coals and used to warm the beds when the time came for retiring. The vessel went to a sugar port and the warming pans found a ready sale, as the covers were used as strainers and the pans to bail the syrup out of the kettles.

Dexter published a book entitled "A Pickle for the Knowing Ones," and being troubled by his printers about punctuation he retaliated by writing a pamphlet without a comma or any other point, but at the end he put half a page of points in a mass, inviting his readers to "pepper the dish to suit themselves." It is said that he conceived the idea of holding his own funeral to ascertain what people would do and say about him, and that it was carried out in every detail with satisfactory results except in one particular. His wife did not manifest the grief he had expected of her, and he chastised her for her lack of devotion.

Here is something to think over when you smoke your T. D.

Ford Car Automobile Story.

From the pen of the Sunday afternoon Rambler of the Journal-Transcript, Franklin, N. H.:

But about the best story the Rambler has heard on the Ford was told him recently while he was in the State Prison. Oh, yes, he has been there and sometime he may tell you about it. Now, however, let us have the story.

A man who owned a high priced car was travelling through the White Mountains. It was during the wet weather of August, and in a swampy place he got a little too far out of the beaten track. Down went the wheels, in the soft earth, to the hubs, and try as he would he could not make the machine pull itself out. While racing his engine to no purpose a man in a little Ford came along, and as all good autoists do, offered to help.

"I do not know as there is anything you can do," said the man, "I shall have to hunt up a team or wait until some big car comes along."

"Let me try to pull you out," said the Ford.

"You pull me out with that little thing, I guess not, it is not heavy enough to pull my car on level ground, much less out of this hole."

"Well, it won't cost anything to let me try, and if you do not object I will hitch on with this rope and we will see what we can do."

"All right, go ahead, we might as well try that while waiting as to do nothing," was the reply.

The rope was taken out and the two machines hitched together. Then both engines were started and steadily the big machine lifted from the mire and was landed on a firm foundation.

"How much will you take for that machine," asked the owner of the big auto.

"Well, I hardly know, it is second hand, and a new one does not cost very high. Perhaps $400 would be about the worth of it."

Drawing out a checkbook the owner of the big car wrote in the amount and passed it over.

"But I don't know as I want to sell," said the Ford man.

"You named your price and there is the amount," was the reply.

"But what are you going to do with the Ford, you do not want it with that big car?"

"I am going to put it in my tool box, and have it ready for the next time I get stuck in the mud."

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

There is no phase of the road problem more important than that of maintenance. The general impression that there are certain types of roads that are permanent is erroneous. No permanent road has ever been constructed, or ever will be, according to the road specialists of the department. The only things about a road that may be considered permanent are the grading, culverts and bridges. Roads constructed by the most skillful highway engineers will soon be destroyed by the traffic, frost, rain and wind, unless they are maintained. But the life of these roads may be prolonged by systematic maintenance, but may become better in time than a good road without it.

The first and last commandment in earth road maintenance is to keep the surface well drained. To insure good drainage the ditches should be kept open, all obstacles removed, and a smooth crown maintained. Except for very stony soil the road machine or scraper may be used very effectively for this work. The machine should be used once or twice a year, and the work should be done when the soil is damp, so that it will pack and bake into a hard crust. Wide and shallow side ditches should be maintained with sufficient fall and capacity to dispose of surface water. These ditches can in most places be constructed and repaired with a road machine.

All vegetable matter, such as sods and weeds, should be kept out of the road, as they make a spongy surface, which retains moisture. Clods are also objectionable, for they soon turn to dust or mud, and for that reason roads should never be worked when dry or hard. Bowlders or loose stones are equally objectionable if a smooth surface is to be secured.

A split-log drag or some similar device is very useful in maintaining the surface after suitable ditches and cross sections have once been secured. This drag can also be used to advantage on a gravel road as well as on an earth road. The principal involved in dragging is that clays and most heavy soils will puddle when wet and set very hard when dry. The little attention that the earth road needs must be given promptly and at the proper time if the best results are to be obtained.

In dragging roads only a small amount of earth is moved, just enough to fill the ruts and depressions with a thin layer of plastic clay or earth which packs very hard so that the next rain instead of finding ruts, depressions, and clods in which to collect, runs off, leaving the surface but little affected.

The drag should be light and should be drawn over the road at an angle of about 45 degrees. The driver should ride on the drag and should not drive faster than a walk. One round trip, each trip straddling a wheel track, is usually sufficient to fill the ruts and smooth the surface. If necessary, the road should be dragged after every bad spell of weather, when the soil is in proper condition to puddle well and still not adhere to the drag. If the road is very bad, it may be dragged when very wet and again when it begins to dry out. A few trips over the road will give the operator an idea as to the best time to drag. Drag at all seasons, but do not drag a dry road.

The slope or crown of an earth road should be about 1 inch to the foot. If the crown becomes too high it may be reduced by dragging toward the ditch instead of from it. If the drag cuts too much, shorten the hitch and change your position on the drag. If it is necessary to protect the face of the drag with a strip of iron, it should be placed flush with the edge of the drag and not projecting. A cutting edge should be avoided, as the main object in dragging is to smear the damp soil into position.

CASCO.

Mayberry Hill.

Manville Thorne has moved his family from South Otisfield to Mayberry Hill into the house recently vacated by Wm. Bartlett.

Robert Savage is making repairs on his buildings. Ernest Winslow is doing the work.

Lizzie Johnson, who has been visiting at Peter Jordan's, is now visiting her friends and relatives on Mayberry Hill.

William Pearson sailed for England, Nov. 15. Harriet Mayberry moved onto the place formerly owned by him, last week.

Olive Marberry, who has been working in New Jersey, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edwards, Sr.

Mrs. Charles Whitney has gone to Boston for a few weeks.

Willard Jordan is laying the foundation for a new barn.

Mrs. Roscoe Mayberry is visiting her friends in New Hampshire.

Walter Hamlin of Otisfield has been packing apples in this vicinity.

Lizzie Pickett, Dorothy Pollard, Florence Thorne and Ellsworth Reed are attending the Casco High school.

Raymond Thorne was fortunate enough to capture a deer one day last week.

WEST LOVELL.

Mrs. Bertha Laroque has visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meserve, at Fryeburg.

Archie McDaniels and friend of Bridgton spent a few days hunting here, stopping at Mrs. Caroline Fox's.

Owing to a small number of patrons of Portland Creamery Company, the collector, Elmer Harnden of Fryeburg, has discontinued the route through here.

Apple buyers offering one dollar per barrel for apples delivered at Fryeburg station, deducting thirty-five cents for barrel and twenty-five cents for drawing, leaves the farmer forty cents per barrel, six cents less than a dozen eggs bring Several farmers are holding their apples for a rise.

BROWNFIELD.

Albert Blake.

Albert Blake was found dead in bed at his home Sunday morning, Nov. 15, from heart disease. His age was about 82 years, being born Nov. 21, 1832. His parents were Francis and Polly Rogers Blake. He had lived in Brownfield most of his life with the exception of two years spent in California mining, two years in Dover, N. H., as a mendicant, and in Lowell, Mass. He had lived in Brownfield 43 years. Religiously he was a Universalist. He belonged to the Shepard River Lodge, F. and A. M., and the Pequawket Lodge, I. O. O. F. In politics he was a democrat.

Mr. Blake married Rebecca Quint, June 20, 1870. His daughter Gertrude, who married Frank Fessenden, died in 1906; his son, Andrew Blake, lives in Brownfield, and succeeds his father as general merchant. He is survived by his wife, one son, three grandchildren and three sisters, Fannie Blake and Mrs. C. B. Welch of Lowell, Mass., and Mrs. Caroline Hill of Brockton, Mass.

The funeral was held Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Universalist church, Rev. H. H. Hoyt the attending clergyman; selections by the choir. The bearers were Frank G. Ham, A. F. Johnson, Charles Harmon and Nelson Adams. Masonic services by Shepard River Lodge. Burial in Pine Grove cemetery.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

HEBRON.

On Saturday afternoon at 3.30 at the Baptist church occured the funeral of Mrs. Albian H. Brainard of Arlington, N. J. Mrs. Brainard was the daughter of Rev. A. R. Crane, who was the pastor of the Baptist church here for nearly twenty years. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Herbert Tilden, assisted by Rev. G. W. F. Hill of Paris Hill, and Prof. W. E. Sargent of the Academy. The floral tributes were many and beautiful; showing the respect love and esteem in which Mrs. Brainard was held.

The Maine Florist Supply Co., Main street, Norway, call attention to the wholesale orders; also to the sale of floral designs. See ad.

Modes in Brief.

Double and three flounced skirts are as popular as ever.

The upstanding collars are more and more used.

Pearls are again being used a great deal for embroideries.

White crepe de chine blouses are trimmed with striped pique.

The hat shaped like a jockey cap is the latest fad in millinery.

Plain black tunic skirts and figured basques are worn together.

The long, straight basque buttoned up the front is in favor.

Of course the big war is nearer its end than it was two months ago but there is little evidence of it in the reports.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

At Work for the Wounded.

In south east Germany, close to the borders of Russia and Austria, are stationed two of the hospital units recently sent abroad by the American Red Cross. Unit G, which is being supported by Kansas City is in charge of Dr. Bial F. Bradbury. The unit is located at Kosel and is attached to a military hospital, while Unit I, in charge of Dr. Charles H. Sanders, is situated at Gleiwitz, 30 miles away, caring for wounded in a theater that has been converted into a hospital.

In a letter dated Kosel, Silesia, Germany, October 19, Dr. Bial F. Bradbury of Norway, wrote:

"I have to report that Unit G is finely located at Kosel, being attached to a military hospital of some 800 beds and having 700 wounded on hand. The hospital is made up of nine buildings, and our unit has complete charge of several wards. We have a fine operating room.

"Unit I is at Gleiwitz and well located—about one hour's ride from here. We hear and see no evidence of cruelty other than expected. Everyone has been extremely kind. Other than the wounded, I would not know this country was at war."

In Hay Cold Storage Four Months.

Alfred W. Whitehouse, at the Center, commenced haying right after Fourth of July and in one mow he accidentally buried a hen in the hay.

Mrs. Whitehouse has a good many hens and chickens and don't count 'em every night. The loss of this biddie wasn't known and probably wouldn't have been until the hay was pitched out if the aforesaid hen hadn't worked her way to a crack in the hay-mow-foot-boards and attracted Mr. Whitehouse's attention on Friday morning, Nov. 13th. A board was sawed off and the imprisoned hen liberated, who immediately visited the dough tub and began to eat and call for water.

Mr. Whitehouse solemnly avers that he states the exact truth minus malice and prevarication. The hen was in there four months with nothing to eat or drink and came out alive but thin in flesh. Next!

Once upon a time a story was circulated that the late John Wyman—big farmer at the Center—covered a flock of small chickens in the hay and in the early spring when the hired man was feeding the cattle he forked 'em out and those that were living were full grown and laying eggs.

Oscar Bennett, on Orchard street, had a similar experience, but as they were old hens one died. Probably with old age. The other lived. How many months or years they had been confined in the hay Oscar has forgotten. It occurred some years ago and was properly announced he says in this paper. Next!

NORTH BRIDGTON.

A Happy Gathering.

During the past week the following invitations have been received in every family containing children or young people.

"The ladies circle will entertain the children and young people of the Sunday School at the vestry on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, from 2 till 6."

To this invitation about 65 responded, and the time was spent in playing games, singing and speaking pieces, till five o'clock when supper was served consisting of salads, sandwiches, assorted cakes, cream pies, ice cream, cocoa and candies. The tables were very prettily decorated with red berries mixed with pine, and apples. It was a pleasure which well paid for the trouble and expense to see the happy faces of the children and young people at the tables, they knowing they were the guests of honor.

RETURNS FROM GERMANY.

Mrs. Louise Dietrich, who returned from a vist to her people in Mittweida, Saxony; Leipsig, Germany, and other places in that vicinity, has many interesting incidents to relate in regard to the war. She left her home in Bridgton in June.

When war was declared, she began to be apprehensive about getting back to this country and feels she is very fortunate to be here, as the boat she sailed on from Rotterdam, is, as far as she can ascertain, the last one to leave that port, on account of the dangers from the mines and capture. Two English pilots accompanied the boat across the channel, in order to avoid mines, and they were also accompanied by another boat until out of the danger zone. Mrs. Dietrich tells of seeing the sunken steamer Louise and also of the bodies of soldiers floating in the water.

A few miles from Berlin, Mrs. Dietrich saw 8000 French soldiers who had been sent there as prisoners. They were in a stockade and apparently not in a very discouraged state, as they waved to the people on the passing train, or sat about, wrapped in blankets or doing their laundry work. The saddest sights were the wounded men who were brought to different places, and seeing the returning German soldiers, worn out by the strenuous fighting, who had come home to recuperate, while others were sent to the front. Mrs. Dietrich has two brothers and a brother-in-law in the German army, one doing guard duty in Belgium and another with the army in Russia. She has not heard from them since she left and is, of course, very anxious.

Post cards are the only means of communication allowed at present and it is very uncertain whether they will ever reach their destination. Mrs. Dietrich mailed one to her husband here, three weeks before her departure, telling him when she hoped to leave, and it came on the same steamer that she did. There were about 1500 people on board and tables were spread in various unusual places, meals being served for four hours, in order to accommodate the passengers. The trip was an exceedingly stormy one and Mrs. Dietrich was sick nearly all the time, so did not have opportunity to meet many of the passengers, but she said they were all exceedingly thankful to arrive in New York without danger, as there was much anxiety.

She saw considerable of the soldiers' manoevers in Lepsig, and also a Zeppelin flying over the city. There is a large hall where these are kept in times of peace, but now they are all on duty in various places. There is the utmost secrecy in regard to the number, as in all other facts in regard to the army. It is most interesting, although it gives sorrow as well, to hear of the soldiers preparing their meals, or engaged in digging trenches, and firing the guns, which are sunken in the ground to prevent the enemy from locating them.

There are various arrangements by the German goverment so there may be no suffering from lack of food, as stations are established in various places where it may be obtained for a small amount. Pensions are also provided for a family left without support, while the head is in the army, or has been killed. The theaters and concerts were closed for awhile, but now are open to the public, although dances are not allowed.

The anxiety with which the women read the newspapers, with the list of wounded and dead, to see if their loved ones have fallen, was described by Mrs. Dietrich, and also the terrible stories told by the wounded men, or those whose duty it is to take the wounded and dead from the battlefield. All the horrors of the war are to be experienced, both for those who are in the battles or on duty, and for the waiting ones at home.

It is the feeling of Mrs. Dietrich that Americans should wait until they have heard both sides before expressing an opinion, as at present only the English news is received in this country. She feels that President Wilson's policy has been entirely fair, but that much of the criticism is based on a partial understanding of the facts. She says the German people regret the war as much as anyone but are willing to fight for their country.

"What do the Germans think the outcome will be?" was asked.

"Oh," replied Mrs. Dietrich, "They think they will win."

A collection of post cards and pictures was brought home by Mrs. Dietrich, including those of her two brothers in uniform and of picturesque costumes in various parts of Germany. Her passport is also of interest, her husband being an American citizen, Albin Dietrich, holding a position in the Pondicherry Mill.

MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn.—"I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have such tired, worn out feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. MABEN, 211 S. Spring, St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

HUB-MARK RUBBERS
FOR MY LADY'S FEET

Sir Walter Raleigh gallantly threw down his cloak on the wet earth that the Queen might pass with her dainty slippers.

For the past sixty years the manufacturers of Hub-Mark rubber footwear have served the women of the land even more effectively. A courtier's cloak for a carpet is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. Hub-Mark rubbers have done such gallant service for years that the service is common talk. They furnish the one perfect weather-proof carpet wherever you go. Hub-Mark rubbers for men, women, boys or girls are standard both in quality of material and excellence of workmanship.

The first cost of Hub-Mark rubbers is no more than that of other first quality goods and they wear much longer. Figure it out and then say "Hub-Mark" to the storeman when you buy rubbers.

These rubbers are manufactured by the Boston Rubber Shoe Company, Malden, Mass.

Healthy Hair
Soft and Fluffy

Beautiful hair does not just happen but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter if your hair is falling out, stringy, lifeless, and full of dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic sold by Noyes Drug Store, is all that is ever needed. It nourishes the hair roots and stimulates the growth of new hair. All dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; your hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.

Whether your hair is oily, dry or brittle, Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.

This delightful tonic is a real necessity and will not fail to give a lasting benefit to your hair and scalp. 47-48

Number Thirteen

Recollections of Early Settlers of Greenwood

By PROF. A. E. VERRILL of Yale University.

G. Gilman Cordwell remembers that his father lived in it several years, when first married, which would be about 1817 to 1825. He also remembers that at that time it was considerably decayed and was becoming dilapidated, as if it were already very old. It had a cellar. Probably my father's house was built on the same spot, in order to utilize the cellar and foundation. G. Gilman Cordwell states that he was born in his father's new house, near the Sanborn Brook, less than a year after they moved in, which would have been in about 1831-2, but they had previously lived on the Patch farm, during some years, after leaving the block-house.

Farm and Family of Isaac P. Furlong.

On the southern side of Patch or Furlong Mountain, on the main road, which passes over the notch between the two peaks, and about a mile away from the old cemetery, is the Furlong farm; one of the best in this section. It was occupied, in my boyhood, by Isaac P. Furlong, who, like his father, was a large, tall, and very strong man, and a very thrifty, hard-working farmer. He generally owned the prize oxen of the town. He was born about 1801. He married Ruth Nason, of Waterford. They moved to Rural, Wis., in 1861, and both lived there to great age. His age was about 94.

In my boyhood days it was famous for its fine growth of sugar maples, from which much maple sugar and syrup were obtained. The same was true, also, of many of the other neighboring farms. I have, myself, when a boy, helped on the old farms, to collect the sap and boil it down to syrup, which was then usually done in the old fashioned way, in a big iron kettle, often suspended over an open fire, in a rude "sugar camp," in the woods. Those were enjoyable occasions, in spite of the hard work of bringing in the buckets of sap, often through deep snows.

The Isaac P. Furlong farm was later reoccupied by J. Flagg Lovering. Still later, in 1876, it was occupied by F. Verrill; and in 1911, by Edward P. Harlow, now of Norway. The old Furlong farmhouse is still standing, but is now unoccupied. It was originally situated eastward of the present road, some distance away, and was then occupied by J. Flagg Lovering and his father, David, who moved it to its present location.

Isaac P. Furlong lived in Albany, when first married, and his two eldest children were probably born there. He exchanged farms with Lovering.

The children of Isaac P., so far as I can recall them, were as follows: Luther, who died in the west; Amanda, married I. Shurtleff, a widower with children, she had no children and died in the west; Florence, married, lived in the west, had children; Atherton B., born 1849 or 1850, married three wives; he is still living; Isaac Aulando, born 1853, died 1911, married Lizzie Mason, who died 1905.

Atherton B. is a musician, a noted teacher of music, and artist,—a painter especially of landscapes and animals. He has lived much in London and is now living in Canada. He married, first, Carletta E. Wellington, who was the mother of all his children. His third wife was Kaloola Lovett, of Portland, a noted singer.

Atherton, Jr., is in business, manufacturing pianos, in New York. Another son, Major Leonado Furlong, distinguished himself and was promoted for bravery in the war of the Phillipines, where he died in 1911. He was married, but had no children.

Charles W. Furlong, eldest son of Atherton, born at Cambridge, Mass., 1874, now of Boston and Newton, Mass., has traveled widely. He has explored the deserts of northern Africa and the previously unknown wilds across Tierra del Fuego, 1907-8. He is also an artist and has a studio in Boston. He studied art in Paris, 1901-2, and previously in Cornell and Harvard. He taught drawing and painting in Cornell University for about ten years. As an author and lecturer, he is widely known. Many of his self-illustrated articles relating to his travels, have been published in the standard magazines: Harpers, Scribners, Outing, etc. He won much credit for the discovery, in 1904, near Tripoli, of the sunken wreck of the U. S. frigate, Philadelphia, burned and sunk by Decatur, in 1804, to prevent it from falling into the hands of the piratical Moors. His discovery was confirmed by the later investigations of the U. S. Navy. He is the author of "The Gateway of the Sahara," 1909. He married, 1899, Eva C. Earll, of Syracuse, N. Y., a graduate of Cornell University. They have one daughter, named Ruth Earll, and a son, Roger W.

The youngest son of Isaac P. was Isaac Aulando, born in Greenwood in 1853. He resided formerly in Wisconsin, but afterwards in Cambridge and Boston, Mass., where he died in 1911. He was a good musician and sang in various churches. His only child, Forest, died young.

For a number of years he engaged in the manufacture of church organs in Boston. He was strictly temperate in his habits, and very devoted to his family. His wife, Lizzie Mason, of Cambridge, whom he married in 1873, was an invalid for very many years, and died of cancer, in May, 1905. He was also a victim to the same disease several years later.

David Lovering; His Descendants.

On the eastern side of the road, nearly opposite the I. P. Furlong farmhouse, was the house of Prescot Lovering, later occupied (about 1876) by F. Hutchinson. It was originally situated farther east, on the older road.

The old schoolhouse nearby is now disused. Prescot Lovering was a son of David Lovering, who, I am told, lived early in the first Thos. W. Furlong house, and later with his son, Joseph Flagg, but subsequently, about 1857, in Stoneham, Mass., and finally in Oxford, Me., with his son-in-law, Wm. Wardwell.

He was a most unfortunate cripple, both feet and ankles being so clubbed and turned that he had to walk entirely on his knees. Yet he was a tough old pioneer and lived to a great age, said to be nearly 100 years, in spite of his infirmities. His temper was not, by any means, amiable.

More than twenty of his descendants inherited abnormal feet, to the fifth generation in one line.

His wife was Ann Flagg, of Waterford. She had good feet and is said to have lived to be over 100 years old. She died in Oxford.

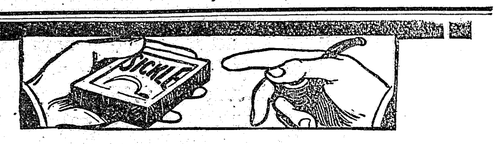

His children, so far as known to me, were as follows: Prescot, (usually called Press); Joseph Flagg; Sarah, who married Wm. Wardwell; Lydia, who married Elijah Cordwell. I think that all of his children had clubbed feet, more or less marked.

A Good Time to Change

If you have been using a mixture of cream of tartar and soda for quick baking you will find it profitable, because of the increasingly high price of cream of tartar, to use Royal Baking Powder instead.

It will pay you to do this because the price of Royal, which is made from highly refined cream of tartar, has not been changed, and because you will find it in every way more satisfactory than the use of home-made mixtures to which you have been accustomed. Royal Baking Powder is famous for its absolute purity and its reliability as a quick raising agent.

Further Particulars.

The sudden death of Fred L. Berry was a great surprise and shock to the community. Last Thursday morning very early he arose, partially dressed and went to the barn and hanged himself with a chain which was suspended from a beam over the barn floor.

It was still duskish when his sister Ella arose, discovering his absence, was alarmed from the appearance of things for fear he had gone out and fainted somewhere, and went in search of him without success. She then called her nephew, Willard Berry, who was staying with them and going to school, who went ont and hunted for him but not finding him he came back and seeing Moses Foss going by called him in to help. He went to the barn and after a little search found him.

Mr. Berry had never been able to get over the death of his twin brother Frank who drowned himself a little more than three years ago. He talked little about his troubles and only his immediate family knew anything of what he suffered and not until about a week before did he give up and say he was sick, even then he kept about and did the chores with his nephew's help. On Wednesday the pain in his head, especially at the base of the brain, was so severe that he could not rest in any position and laid on the couch with his head hanging off over the edge. All previous remedies gave no relief. The result was the loss of all reason and he became irresponsible af the act which followed.

Mr. Berry was an honest, upright man; more than that he was an active Christian man in word and deed. He was a member of the Free Baptist church and a constant attendant both morning and evening and kept the Sabbath scrupulously. He was kind hearted, a good neighbor and loved by the children. He was the son of George and Mary Marshall Berry and was born 58 years ago the 29th of August.

The twin brothers have always lived at home and worked on the farm and with their sister Ella cared for their parents until one by one they dropped out and now the sister is left alone except for Clara, the youngest daughter who is at home during her vacations from school teaching. There are two other brothers, G. Will Berry and Edwin R., who reside in West Paris, a sister, Elizabeth, wife of John Carsley of Farmington, and a half sister, Cynthia, wife of A. J. Abbott of North Paris. Hiram Berry died ouly a few weeks ago.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m., Saturday, at the home. Rev. L. W. Raymond who has been acquainted with the family for a good many years and who has performed the last sad service for three or four of the family before this, spoke very comforting words to the grief stricken family and friends. A bouquet of pink pinks from six or eight children was given to show how great was their love for the friend whom they called "Uncle Fred." There was also a spray of yellow chrysanthemums from church friends. Interment was in the family lot in West Paris cemetery.

Mrs. Roscoe Tuell fell on the cellar stairs Monday and fractured her right arm near the shoulder joint. Dr. Wheeler assisted by Dr. Stewart of South Paris administered ether and attended to the trouble. Her daughter, Mrs. I. L. Bowker came on the evening train.

SMILEY SYSTEM—SIX STORES

A Revolution if Practical.

A motor car without wheels has been constructed and set to practical tests. Instead of wheels there are three parallel pairs of runners, like those on sleds, except that they are movable.

When not in motion the car rests on all three pairs of runners, but as soon as the motor is started one pair is raised, moved forward, set on the ground, and so on. Thus the car is always resting on two pairs, and by the forward movement of the runners moved forward. The motion is said to be much smoother than one would anticipate, without jars or noise.
